Justice Department,

Micro$oft should be broken up and not just 2 piece, but 3. Micro$oft should be broken into an Operating System house, applications house, and now with their push on the Internet an Internet service house. This would mean better products for Unix and Lynx based computers forcing Micro$oft to compete on it's merits as an operating systems provider company without forcing people to use their operating system or else no ubiquitous useful applications for you. One company, Micro$oft, should not have so much control over a growing industry that will influence the way the world working in the future.
